

DMG Worldwide Consulting expands Company adds new talent to its infrastructure

February, 2014

DMG Worldwide Consulting LLC announced that the company has added two more seasoned professionals to its team. Eric Barberio and Dalton Nairne have joined DMG, which focuses on assisting pre-revenue, start-up and young companies to fund and execute their business plans.

“We’re delighted to add Eric and Dalton to the company resources so we can offer their insight and expertise to our clients,” said David M. Greene, founder of DMG Worldwide Consulting. “I have previously worked with both of these gentlemen with much success. Their skill sets mesh perfectly with our needs and we are fortunate to have them aboard.”

Eric J. Barberio has more than 20 years of experience in the areas of accounting, information technology, compliance and business process improvement in large and growing organizations. Formerly, he was Founder/Managing Partner of EBMI Management Consultants, a South Florida-based boutique consulting and professional services firm that focused on Fortune 1000 clients providing accounting & financial operations, technology and business process improvement services both domestically and globally. Barberio has written several articles on accounting, leadership, technology and process improvement lifecycles and he speaks regularly at universities and other organizations, such as the FICPA, IMA and many corporations.

He holds a graduate degree from the University of Oxford (England) in Global Business and Finance; a M.B.A from Palm Beach Atlantic University; a B.B.A. in Finance and Economics from Florida International University and is a Certified Management Accountant (CMA).

Dalton Nairne is an accountant with 22 years of leadership and management. He is the founder and CEO of Xpress Retail Shop and Outlet, where he dealt with e-commerce as well as brick-and-mortar sales, and handles all the financial elements including budgeting, accounting and payment processing. For eight years, he was the divisional controller for FansEdge, Dreams, Inc.’s e-commerce division, responsible for all merchant processing systems integration. He trained and supervised nine full-time employees, performed due diligence auditing on prospective acquisition targets and handled extensive forensic analysis in multiple system modules. Nairne earned his MBA from the University of Phoenix and is proficient in a wide array of business and accounting software and tools.
